David Chocran's imaginative political satire hits the spot with its fantasy central idea, and the performances by Jason Nemor Harden as Lincoln and Mark Coleman as Trump are very impressive..... (The Real Chris Sparkle)

Jason Nemor Harden plays the lawyer, the identity of whom the play's title has already given away, with a casual assurance, his rich bass-baritone shaking the stage with his coolly dropped nuggets of wisdom.... (Graeme Strachan, The British Theatre Guide)

Jason Nemor's Lincoln provides a strong contrast, his incredibly smooth voice capable of suddenly packing a real punch when Lincoln challenges Trump.... (The Nerd Party)

Jason Nemor Harden plays the unnamed man, who of course is more than he first seems, with a real delicacy. Harden's casting is a smart choice in a play that also uses dramatic irony to good effect.... (Lyn Gardner, The Stage)
